RED SONYA

Caught in the force of the moon

The power of love

She danced barefoot around the campfire

AIR JUNG

I am always scared of flying

Buenos dias
Aqui está mi pasaporte

But this journey

Mettez vos chaises et vos tables dans la position vertical

They came in the middle of the night

I have no luggage CAUCHEMAR

The movie on this flight is the same nightmare I have had since I was six:

We are in a truck
on a mountain
We are circling higher & higher
It is getting scary
Suddenly the driver slumps
I grab the wheel
I don't know how to drive
Swerving on two wheels
Popeye & Olive Oyl style
Not sure if I can hold on!!!

Bouclez les ceintures et cessez le fumer

I don't know where we are flying to Captain Carl and his crew would like you to breathe in through your mouth and out through your nose -- no -- in through your nose, and out through your mouth --

FLAG DANCE

RED NOSE

My red nose is a flag

A yellow star

The mark of the beast upon my forehead.

I wave it/flaunt it

Hell!!! I was born with it.

But someday,

I wish

I could re-route:

get some money/a student loan/a degree

get a career/a house/a car

get some money and maybe a few credit cards.

Then, I might qualify

to have my red nose

surgically removed.

A red nose vasectomy is only 40% reversible.

This is the way the world works
The world works, the world works
This is the way the world works
Plus ça change -- plus ça la meme

He worked himself to death,
they said.
Tension, exhaustion,
cholesterol and salt.
Left hand on his briefcase
Right hand on the corporate ladder
He died one Tuesday before lunch and he was only forty-two.
He left her with five kids and the new house.
She was the only widow
on the block.

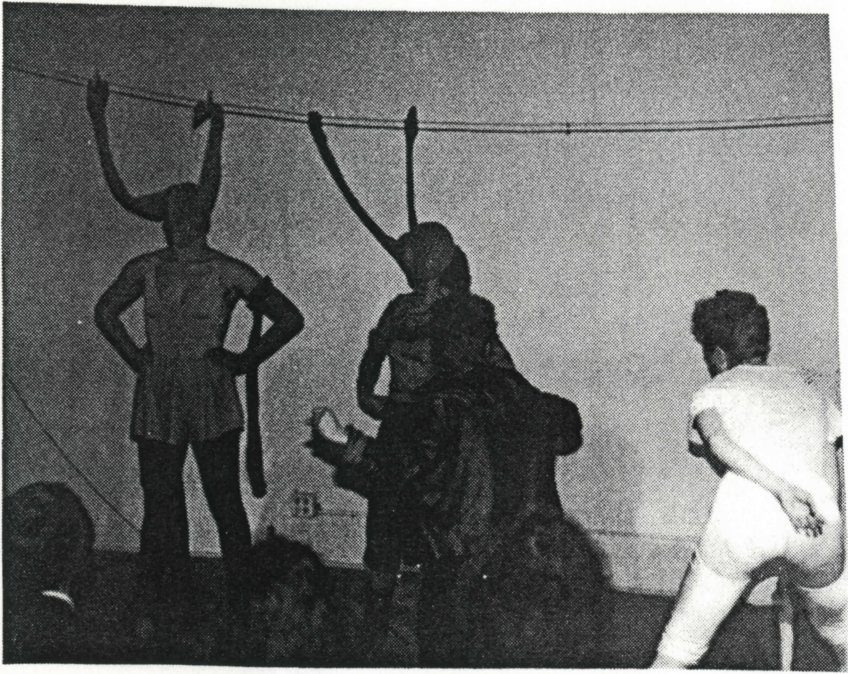

That's the way the world works
The world works, the world works
That's the way the world works
Plus ça change -- plus ça

He was tortured and executed by the Death Squad which was working for the government which was working for the U.S of A.
She was left with two sons and her name on the Death List;
but a chain of miracles brought them to Canada
They were the only refugees
on the block.

That's the way the world works

He was an actor
He went on tour and fell in love with a young blonde snuggie leaving his wife at home
seven months pregnant;
plus ça change;
He worked in the muffler shop
and dealt a few drugs
He went to jail
leaving his girl at home
eight months pregnant;
plus ça la meme chose.

And then the war came
He and his band

The single moms are on fruitloops or maybe a cowboy or an astronaut."

"Me too," she said.

Mexican couple total 247 years, newspaper says

MEXICO CITY (Reuter) — Jesus Carranza Vega and his companion Paula Martinez de Carranza may be the oldest couple in Mexico, totalling 247 years between them, the Excelsior newspaper reported this week.

Jesus is a youthful 114 and Paula a more mature 133, the newspaper said.

It said that the couple live in a tiny hut, without electricity or water, in the village of Miradores in the northern state of Tamaulipas. They have lived for years on tortillas, beans and chili peppers.

Excelsior did not say when or if they were married, in this country where many such liaisons are not formally registered.

What can't
do without?

There are 2.69 persons in the average Canadian household, but they are not alone. More than 90 per cent of families can't be without a color television set, a refrigerator or a telephone. Nearly 80 per cent can't make it from point A to point B without an automobile. If the car won't start, a bicycle will do, and 50 per cent of households own one.

More than 43 per cent of Canadian households can serve dinner from a microwave oven, wash the dishes in an automatic dishwasher and relax watching a movie on the VCR.

One item that 93 per cent of families can do without is a snowmobile, and 94 per cent have no vacation home.
